

Community Service Awards

Ryan Schmitt accepts the National Community Service Award for Petticoat-Schmitt Civil Contractors of Jacksonville, Fla., for its work on improvements at Seamark Ranch, a non-denominational children's home and school that is committed to hope, healing and a brighter future for abused, neglected, abandoned and homeless children.

Mark Fugelvand accepts the National Community Service Award for Marshbank Construction in Monroe, Wash., for its work at the Monroe Rotary Field.

Corey Hock accepts the National Community Service Award for Western Summit Constructors in Denver for its work on the Quincy Reservoir Trail Development.

Judy Turpin accepts the award for Legislative/Government Affairs for the George Utility Construction Association (GUCA) for its long history of advocacy and involvement in legislative issues within their state. She also accepted the GUCA award for its annual membership directory and its monthly magazine.

Alan Jurkonis accepts the award for a Periodical Publication for NUCA of Las Vegas' monthly newsletter, The Pipeline.

The Award for Special Events was given to two winners -- the Southwest Florida Utility Contractors Association for its Scholarship Golf Tournament, accepted by Bruce Wendorf and Kirk Richmond (left photo) and the Utility Contractors Association of Washington for its Phantom of the Opera-themed auction event, accepted by Chapter President Paul Clements.

Alex Paris (right) and Glenn Ely (left) accept the award for Chapter Web site on behalf of the Pennsylvania Utility Contractors Association (PUCA).

The 2009 Jeffrey Hanson Memorial Award for Outstanding Contribution by a Chapter Executive Director went to Jane Jernigan who has served as Executive Director of NUCA of New Mexico. Chapter Past President Kari Biernacki accepts the Award on her behalf.

NUCA PAC Awards

GUCA took home two PAC awards. The first (left) was the Leadership Award, which is present to the chapter with the most President Club Members. The second was the Grassroots Award for recruiting new members. Judy Turpin accepted both on GUCA's behalf.

The Underground Contractors Association of South Florida also won a Grassroots Award. Chapter Executive Director Jenn Mancini accepted the award.

Judd Gleason accepted the Teamwork Award for NUCA of Ohio, which is given to the chapter with the highest dollar amount contributed per contractor member.
